GENERAL NEWS.

FROM NEW YORK

INDIAN AFFAIRS.

THE FEELING IN WASHINGTON.

THE VIEWS OF THE PRESIDENT.

NEW YORK, July 7.

According to the fullest advices received from the scene of the defeat and massacre of General Custer, the only newspaper correspondent accompanying the corps was the Herald special, Mr. Kellogg, who was killed.

A Washington despatch says the President is deeply affected by the terrible defeat and death of Custer, and matters have become so serious that it may be necessary for General Sheridan himself to go in person to the scene of action, for it is too evident that the campaign is a blunder and a muddle, if indeed it be not a disgrace.

Cutting off Supplies.

The campaign against the wild Sioux was undertaken under disadvantageous circumstances, owing to the refusal of Congress to appropriate money for the establishment of military posts on the upper Yellowstone River. The committee on appropriations refused to provide in their bills the necessary means. This is regarded as the immediate cause of the disaster. The remote cause was undoubtedly the expedition into the Black Hills two years ago, in violation of the laws and treaties, authorized by Secretary Belknap and led by General Custer.

Gen. Sheridan's Opinions.

Speaking of the Indian policy, General Sheridan said that the truth was the army was made to carry out the purposes of the government in the Indian country. "By reason of its weakness I have," he said, "sent every man I could spare into that region, even taking troops from Laramie and Salt Lake. The government in its wisdom directs the doing of certain things in those regions. It directs an expedition like this of Terry—an expedition necessary for the development of that country. We do the best we can with our material, but we are in no condition to do the work required of us."

More Troops to the Yellowstone.

A despatch from Chicago says Lieutenant General Sheridan has ordered General Pope of the department of Missouri to forward without delay six companies of infantry to the Yellowstone, to reinforce General Terry.

What Sherman Thinks About It.

A correspondent in Philadelphia had a conversation with General Sherman on the massacre of Custer's command. In answer to the question, What were the reasons for this command? General Sherman said: "We are doing this at the special request of the Indian Department. It does not originate with the War Department at all. You will see on my map where the Indian reservation is. Our purpose is to drive those Indians, who are of the very wildest and most savage sort, down on the reservation. You can say that we will do it now or exterminate them."

The Savage Sioux.

The Sioux are a distinct race of men from the so-called Indians of the southwest among whom the army found such easy work two or three years ago. The Sioux live by the chase and feed chiefly upon flesh. The southwestern tribe are farmers; and eat fruits and vegetables. The latter are at their worst cruel, cowardly robbers. The former are as much like the brave and warlike red men represented by the last of the Mohicans as ever existed outside the covers of fiction and romance.

This difference between the foes in the North and Southwest seems not to have been well counted upon nor provided for, and formed, as it might prudently, no restraint upon the reckless fatal charge of the 300. If the tale told by the courier is true, the charge has scarce a parallel in history. The massacre of Major Dade and his command in the Florida war is alone comparable with it in American history.

General Custer's wife, a niece of Senator Christiancy, survives him, but he leaves no children. His contributions to the magazines continued up to the present. His book, entitled "My Life on the Plains," appeared this year, and the last number of the Galaxy contained an article giving his experience with the Sioux in the Yellowstone expedition of 1873.

FROM WASHINGTON.

THE APPROPRIATION CONFERENCE.

WASHINGTON, July 7.

The Senate met at 11, when Gov. Morrill reported from the committee of Conference on the Legislative Appropriation bill that they could not agree, and made a statement of what had been done. He showed that six months after the commencement of the session the House sent over the appropriation bill and expected the Senate to pass it. This would have changed existing laws covering the whole civil service.

The Impeachment Trial Postponed.

Gov. Morrill not having concluded his remarks when the court of impeachments met at noon, the court adjourned until the debate on the disagreement between the two houses could be finished.

Speech of Senator Morrill.

Senator Morrill of Maine made a powerful speech of an hour's length, explaining fully the attitude of the two houses as to the appropriation. He characterized the course of the House as unwarranted, unprecedented, and calculated to work incalculable detriment to the public service.

He seemed to be determined in his purpose, as chairman of the Senate conference committee, to resist the unprecedented efforts of the House to change salaries now fixed by existing laws by provisions in the appropriation bills reducing the amount called for by such existing laws regulating salaries. There appears, therefore, very little hope of reaching an agreement on the legislative bill.

The Whiskey Investigation.

The Whiskey Investigation Committee will probably decline to use Grant. Bristow as a witness since he refuses to reveal Cabinet secrets.

MISCELLANEOUS.

BY CABLE.

A Turkish Defeat.—Turkish Atrocities in Bulgaria.

LONDON, July 8.

The News' Berlin special reports the Turks besieging Batchkar which has a garrison of 8000.

The Paris Soir says all advices received confirm the onward march of Tschernayeff. He, however, will probably be stopped at Sophia, as the Turks are concentrating there.

The Courier de France reports that a great engagement has taken place between Priot and Ismibod. The Turks were dislodged and the road is open to Sophia. The Turks lost two hundred killed and one hundred prisoners at Priot.

A dispatch from Alexandria to the News announces that General Loring, commander-in-chief of the Egyptian army in Abyssinia, has arrived in Cairo from Massowah. Troops for Constantinople are arriving at Alexandria daily.

A letter from the Constantinople correspondent of the News repeats and quotes evidence in support of his previous assertions in regard to the atrocities in Bulgaria. He gives as an instance one case in which forty women of the village of Tovoselo were burned alive, and cites a consular report placing the number of murders committed by the Turks at twelve thousand, while some estimates run as high as twenty five thousand.

Disaster to Gen. Butler's Yacht.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 7.

The yacht America struck on Brigantine Shoals at 2 o'clock this morning. She floated off at 4 A. M., leaking badly. Assistance has been telegraphed for. Gen. Butler is among the party on board.

POLITICAL NOTES.

"It is not reform that the Democratic party asks. It is restoration.—[Phila. Press.

There is absolutely no hope of reform within the old party lines.—[Temperance Vindicator.

"Not satisfied with 'walloping niggers,' the Democrats are now after the 'heathen Chinee.' That party has a genius for bigotry and meanness.—[Buffalo Express.

Yale College conferred the degree of LL. D., on Yung Wing, a heathen Chinee graduate of that college. But that was before the St. Louis convention. Put him out.—[Saratogian.

"The platform of the Democratic party adopted by the National Convention at St. Louis is an admirable declaration of reform principles and purposes. Whether the radicals choose or not, they will be forced to adopt a defensive position in regard to the great and overshadowing issue of reform.—[Petersburg (Va.) Appeal.

Not a single black face to be seen in the Convention, is one of the boasts from St. Louis. Yet the Democrats pretend they can carry all but one or two Southern states. Possibly they can if the Ku-klux have it all their own way, for in that case "not a single black face to be seen at the polls" will be the report most loudly cheered in Tammany Hall.—[N. Y. Mail.

Col. McClure of the Philadelphia Times, thinks all current political signs are deceptive if the nomination of Gov. Tilden does not yet prove to be one of positive and perhaps omnipotent strength. The democracy, he says, has given the country a leader who is himself the embodiment of the issues of the contest, and there must be a reactionary wave stronger even than that of August, 1872, if he shall not be the Centennial President of Peace.

Miss Cozzens used the argumentum ad hominem in her address to the convention. She urged her listeners to take women into their political organization, because "it is not well for man to dwell alone." However true the saying may be of man, if the reports of unpleasant differences among the St. Louis delegates be true, we should say that it would be just as well for woman that man should go it alone at democratic conventions.—[Phila. Times.

The Albany Evening Journal says many nice things of Hon. W. A. Wheeler, the Republican candidate for Vice President, of which this is a sample: "A more manly man never entered public life. He is sincere, candid and straightforward in all things. He is guided invariably by his conscientious convictions of duty. The unworthy arts of self-seeking and all the resorts of the trimmer and the demagogue are utterly foreign to his nature. He weighs every subject with a sobriety of judgment which never loses its balance, and acts upon his conclusions with the courage and firmness of unwavering principle."

"With Samuel J. Tilden as President there will be no Belknaps nor Delanos in the Cabinet. Schencks will not degrade nor dishonor us abroad; Boss Shepherds will not rule us at home. There will be no whiskey rings in the West; the infamous rule of the carpet-baggers will come to an end in the South; we shall have no Tom Murphys in the North, and no Butlerism in the East."

The strength which Governor Tilden received at St. Louis from the opposition of Tammany leads some of the country newspapers to surmise that he had a secret understanding with John Kelly, whose apparent opposition was designed to increase the Governor's popularity before the people. It is certainly extraordinary that Kelly's men should have been admitted to the state convention, while Morrissey's men were kept out, and then that Kelly should have opposed Tilden in St. Louis, while Morrissey supported him.—[N. Y. Evening Post.

It may be said that John Kelly celebrated the Fourth of July by subjecting himself to a diet of humble pie in Tammany Hall, where he avowed without qualification his intention to support the candidate for President whose nomination he so bitterly opposed at St. Louis. We are not sure, however, that this would be rightly said. If by accepting the Tilden and Hendricks ticket John Kelly through Tammany Hall maintains his ascendency in the Democratic party in this city, the decent Democrats rather than he will eat humble pie. If they now favor an alliance with Tammany they will lose more votes by the proceeding than they gained by Tammany's hostility.—[N. Y. Post.

A FASHIONABLE FRAUD.

Sunday morning a young man named Edward Le Barron, son of a livery stable keeper of Mattapoisett, arrived here on horseback in search of a person who had hired a team from him Saturday, promising to return it the same afternoon. A search around the city resulted in finding the missing property at Elihu Kirby's stable, on Third street, where it was left Saturday afternoon until called for, but no one had appeared until Le Barron and Officer Dexter presented themselves. Le Barron states that about a month or six weeks ago a stylish appearing Frenchman arrived at Mattapoisett, with the pronounced intention of remaining through the summer's heat. He seemed possessed of considerable means, was affable, polished, entertaining, and soon worked himself into the good graces of several prominent families. Lately his intentions seemed to assume a more interesting character, and a young daughter of one of the families seemed willing to encourage his attentions.

The parent, however, had his suspicions, and learning in conversation that the visitor belonged to Springfield, Ill., where he claimed to own property and possess a heavy banking account, telegraphed to a prominent banker of that city, for confirmation of the story. The banker replied that the Frenchman had resided there, and had possessed a considerable bank account but had recently withdrawn it and left the city for parts unknown. Upon receiving the reply, the incautious parent let it leak out, and it soon came to the ears of the Summer visitor, who hurriedly secured a team from Mr. Le Barron, announcing his intention of going to New Bedford and returning the same afternoon. About twenty minutes after his departure a telegram was received from the city marshal of Springfield, asking the Mattapoisett authorities to detain him until the arrival of an officer, but not stating with what offence he was charged.

The Frenchman failed to return, as the authorities in their innocence never anticipated, and Le Barron yesterday morning anxious for the safety of his team started on the trail, and followed the fugitive to Acushnet, where he had stopped and inquired the time for the next train to leave. Finding that he would have to wait three hours, he continued to New Bedford, and from there to Fall River, arriving here as stated at 2.30 Saturday P. M. He is supposed to have left for New York by the Old Colony boat the same evening. We since learn that the fellow's name is Oscar Berringer.—[Border City World.

AT A MEETING of the Potato Bugs held at Newport, R. I., June 23, 1876, the following preambles and resolutions were adopted:—
WHEREAS—It has pleased the farmers and others of Newport and vicinity, to wage incessant war against our race, and
WHEREAS—A party in Newport, R. I., known as W. H. GREEN & CO., at 143 Thames street, have greatly aided said farmers and others by the sale of PARIS GREEN, and
WHEREAS—Said PARIS GREEN gets the approval of the aforesaid farmers and others as being the best article known for the extermination of our race, and
WHEREAS—The said W. H. GREEN & CO., are extensive dealers in Leads, Oil, Glass, Putty, Beeswax, Copperas, (a very good disinfectant,) and all other articles found in a well stocked paint store, therefore Resolved—That we do all in our power to prevent the aforesaid farmers and others from purchasing anything from the aforesaid W. H. GREEN & CO.
Resolved—That a copy of the foregoing resolutions be published once a day for ten days in the Newport DAILY NEWS.
Resolved—That each and every farmer purchase a copy of the said DAILY NEWS.

THE NEWPORT DAILY NEWS AND THE NEWPORT JOURNAL.

THE NEWPORT DAILY NEWS is published every afternoon, except Sundays, at the NEWS Building, 13 Church street, by Davis & Pitman.

The NEWPORT JOURNAL is published at the same office every Saturday morning, and contains a collection of the best matter in the Daily, including Editorial Discussions of the topics of the week, Literary Miscellanies, and at least one good story, the Latest Markets, and a complete and comprehensive summary of the news, local and general. The JOURNAL is a large 32 column paper and contains more reading matter than any other paper in the south part of the state.

Complaints regarding the irregular or improper delivery of either paper should be sent to the office at once.

ADVERTISING RATES.

Ordinary Advertisements, $1 a square, for the first insertion, and 25 cents for each continuance; Ten lines or less, in this type, make a square. Advertisements in Reading matter is charged for, at 50 per cent. extra. A discount on these rates is allowed on all advertisements ordered for one week or longer. Funeral Notices 50 cents each. Yearly advertisers are limited to their immediate business and are allowed twenty-five changes a year. No gratuitous advertising for any object.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

The DAILY NEWS, $6 per annum, or 12 cents a week payable to carrier.

The NEWPORT JOURNAL, $2 per annum, in advance.

PRINTING.

Connected with THE NEWS is the largest general printing office in the city. All orders for work in this department will be promptly filled, and at reasonable prices. The patronage of the public is respectfully solicited.

Newport Daily News.

SATURDAY, JULY 8, 1876.

Summer residents desiring the DAILY NEWS during their stay in Newport, will be served at the rate of 50 cents a month, or 12 cents a week, payable to carrier.

Subscribers occupying cottages north of Webster street and south of Bliss road will be served each afternoon by carrier. Those living beyond these limits will receive the paper through the postoffice, or by any other means they prefer. DAVIS & PITMAN, 13 Church street.

THE DAY.

Helmbold is again at liberty and is sojourning at Long Branch.

The steamboat train to Boston, yesterday consisted of eighteen cars, all well filled.

There are 39,319 names in the Providence directory, being 2,757 more than last year.

Old Probabilities has something to say about rain near the New England coast to night.

John McNally has been held for trial in Fall River on the charge of arson. Incendiary fires have been quite numerous in that city of late.

Governor Connor of Maine, has visited the sick room of Mr. Blaine and tendered him the appointment of United States senator in place of Mr. Morrill.

The story of Turkish atrocities is one that will arouse universal sympathy for the revolutionists in the east. A more unworthy government does not exist on the face of the earth, and this despotism that so outrages the civilization of the 19th century ought to be wiped out.

The prohibitionists of Massachusetts, have put a full ticket in the field for the coming election. John I. Baker, of Beverly, is again the candidate for Governor, and Rev. Dr. D. C. Eddy, a distinguished Baptist clergyman for Lieut. Governor. Many of the best temperance men doubt the expediency of such a course and will not give their support to a movement which they think ill timed and unwise.

Santa Anna has just died. Ever since we can remember he has been doing something wonderful. He once ran up a tree at the instance of Sam Houston, has had five or six legs shot off in battle, has been killed two or three times, and died at least two natural deaths before this one. We have been reading his obituaries about once in two years for a long time, and instead of writing a new one on this hot day would simply refer readers to any old file of newspapers.

Prof. Allen whose failure to make the balloon ascension on the Fourth of July was so generally regretted proposes to try again. He has sent us word that he will be in Newport with his balloon on Tuesday next and make the promised ascension at 4 P. M. Mr. Allen shows a determination to fulfill his agreement with the committee and proposes this second trial at his own expense, though so far as we can learn he was not at all censured by those having the matter in charge for the previous failure.

The Indian war attracts much attention in Washington and throughout the country. It is everywhere looked upon as a serious affair and requiring prompt and efficient action. Our army is, confessedly, unequal to the demands of the hour, and the frontier is in a measure subject to the mercy of the untamed savages. There is no room for negotiations, and no opportunities for compromise and nothing remains for us to do but drive the red men back to their reservations and compel them to stay there. This must be done, at whatever cost of life or treasure, and should be done as quickly as possible.

It is said that the protracted drouth now prevailing in this locality, is the most severe of anything of the kind for the past twenty years. It is certain that vegetation is not only suffering but in many instances actually dying for want of water. The lawns on the cliffs are turning brown, the meadows are becoming like stubble, the farmers' corn begins to droop and what is left of the potato fields after the ravages of the Colorado beetle, is losing all signs of growth or life. It is now too late to save many of the crops of the season, though some of them would be greatly benefitted by early rain. In the meantime the hot sun scorches every green thing that is left and the ground itself is like an ash heap. Unless relief comes speedily there must be great loss to the farmers, and consequently to the whole country.

In the city the wells are many of them dry, and the cisterns have given out generally. The difficulty is every day growing more and more serious. Today is one of the hottest and most uncomfortable of the season.

RELIGIOUS NEWS.

The English Wesleyan congregations were increased by the admission of eleven thousand members last year.

The new and spacious edifice for Trinity Protestant Episcopal Church, Boston, is nearly finished, and it will probably be opened for worship at Christmas. The recent report of gifts to Christian charities from this parish for the closing financial year returned $28,400 as the amount contributed. The rector, the Rev. Phillips Brooks, is not, as has been reported, to pass the summer vacation in Europe, nor were measures taken at the diocesan convention to censure him for assisting Bishop Nicholson in the marriage of his daughter at Emmanuel Church.

In the recent Irish synod, the vote on the proposition to substitute "minister" for "priest" in the prayer-book stood 109 to 22 clergy in the negative, and 95 to 35 laity.

Rev. Charles H. Bixby, of New York, has accepted the charge of the parish at Wakefield as well as the Episcopal chapel at Narragansett Pier, and will begin his services at Wakefield on Sunday next, July 9.

Rev. Augustus Woodbury, of Providence, will preach in the Memorial chapel, Tiverton, and Rev. J. P. Bland, of Cambridge, Mass., at the same place the following Sunday.

The Methodist thinks that the only durable effect of the discussion in regard to the observance of Sunday in the Philadelphia Exhibition will be "to demonstrate that Sunday has a warmer place in the affections of the American people than even the ministers and the religious press have heretofore supposed."

The will of the late Mrs. Susie Drake Callon, of Baltimore, was admitted to probate on Wednesday. Among a number of bequests to individuals, religious and beneficiary societies, amounting in the aggregate to $41,000, are the following: To the Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal church, $4500; Methodist Preachers Aid Society, Baltimore, $4500; Home of the Aged of the Methodist Episcopal church, Baltimore, $5000; Church Extension Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church, $10,000.

The Union Square Baptist Church in San Francisco is one of the most energetic and united churches in California. It was organized by Rev. Henry A. Sawtelle, D. D., a clergyman of marked ability and education, and a most devoted and industrious pastor, ten years ago. Mr. Sawtelle remained pastor till recently, when he resigned to come to New England. The church, like the church of Pentecost in Boston, of Smith in Brooklyn, and some others represents the open communion party in the Baptist denomination. It shows its enterprise by telegraphing to Rev. Dr. C. H. Malcom, of Newport, reviewing its call, and offering what we judge most clergymen would consider very generous terms—a salary of $3000 a year payable monthly, $500 to pay expenses out, and an annual vacation of one month.

Father Hyacinthe and his wife have recently been the guests of Dean Stanley in London. Of the failure of Pere Hyacinthe to meet the expectations which he excited Mr. M. D. Conway, in a letter to the Cincinnati Commercial, says:

"In truth the good father has been a disappointment not only to those who invited him to Geneva, but to lookers on, who anticipated a sort of religious revolution from his going there. It was believed that he meant to be the exponent of some new religious idea; and it has been a serious disappointment to find that his idea of reformation extends no farther than the claim that a Catholic priest is entitled to a wife. Between the Protestant and Catholic parties Father Hyacinthe is in the sad condition of the bat in the fable, with which the birds would not associate because of its mouse-like body, nor the mice because of its wings. This is a melancholy, however inevitable, outcome for a man who has shown such surpassing powers of eloquence and enthusiasm as Father Hyacinthe."

THE CHRISTIAN'S TITLE.—My title is clear to all spiritual blessings, because God being my God in Jesus, all things are mine. Having his free grant of them in the word of promise, and trusting to his faithfulness, I have set out to walk with my divine Friend and Father, hoping to enjoy his loving presence all the way to heaven. I would not aim at getting any new title to his love, but to have new enjoyment. Every day I am seeking for more knowledge, and for more experience of his abundant love to me in his beloved Son, and for this end I would walk close with him in his way; not to buy his love—it is inestimable; not to merit it—free grace and merit can not stand together; not that he may give it me for walking with him, but that in walking with him I may enjoy what he has already given me. His love is a free gift; I would by faith enjoy it in time, as I hope by sense to enjoy it in eternity. Whatever blessing, strength, victory or comfort I stand in need of, I look to the fullness which he has laid up in Jesus, and from thence I receive it. I read my title in it, and I take possession of it, for nothing done in me or by me now or at any other time, but only in or for the free grace of his Father and my Father.—[Romaine's "Walk of Faith."

THE FOLLY OF PRIDE.—The very witty and sarcastic Rev. Sydney Smith thus discourseth on the folly of pride in such a creature as man:

"After all, take some quiet, sober moment of life, and add together the two ideas of pride and of man; behold him, creature of a span high, stalking though infinite space in all the grandeur of littleness. Perched on a speck of the universe, every wind of heaven strikes into his blood the coldness of death; his soul floats from his body like melody from the string; day and night, as dust on the wheel, he is rolled along the heavens, through a labyrinth of worlds, and all the creations of God are flaming above and beneath. Is this a creature to make himself a crown of glory, to deny his own flesh, to mock at his fellow, sprung from that dust to which both will soon return? Does the proud man not err? Does he not suffer? Does he not die? When he reasons, is he never stopped by difficulties? When he acts, is he never tempted by pleasure? When he lives, is he free from pain? When he dies can he escape the common grave? Pride is not the heritage of man; humility should dwell with frailty, and atone for ignorance, error and imperfection.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

MURDER WILL OUT.

A few years ago "August Flower" was discovered to be a certain cure for Dyspepsia and Liver complaint, a few thin Dyspepsias made known to their friends how easily and quickly they had been cured by its use. The great merits of GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER became heralded through the country by one sufferer to another, until, without advertising, its sale has become immense. Druggists in every town in the United States are selling it. No person suffering with Sour Stomach, Sick Headache, Costiveness, palpitation of the Heart, indigestion, low spirits, etc., can take three doses without relief. Go to your Druggist James H. Taylor, and get a bottle for 75 cents and try it. Sample bottles 10 cents.

THE WAR AGAINST DISEASE.

The war waged against disease by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters goes bravely on. Dispatches are constantly received from the cured indicating the decisive nature of the advantages obtained by the great botanic cordial over its formidable adversary. Malarial fevers, constipation, torpidity of the liver and kidneys, general debility, nervousness and rheumatic ailments invariably yield to this conqueror and preventative of disease. For the infirmities incident to the decline of life it is also an excellent specific. It hastens convalescence and repairs the ravages of ill health by facilitating the conversion of food into the blood of a rich and nourishing quality. The appetite is improved by it, and in cases of nervous disease it tranquilizes that great sensorium, the brain, far more effectually than any mineral sedative.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

—The mustang ponies for the polo races arrived this morning.

—The family of Admiral Turner are at Conanicut Park.

—Two schooner loads of coal have just arrived at the torpedo station.

Fairman Rogers of Philadelphia has arrived for the season.

—The dredging machine finishes its contract for dredging the harbor today.

—Masonic hall is to be repaired at once and work will be commenced next week.

—The wife of Judge Field of Washington, D. C., is at the Anderson cottage.

—W. D. P. Manice of New York has arrived at the Dellham villa.

—A woman overcome with liquor was taken to the station house this morning.

—Steamer Day Star makes an excursion here from Providence tomorrow.

—J. P. Kernochan gives a reception at his residence on Marine avenue this afternoon.

—The Alabama Minstrels performed at Carl's Bellevue Avenue Garden last night to a good sized audience.

—The U. S. steamer Tallapoosa arrived at the torpedo station yesterday, with Rear Admiral Powell on board.

—The wife of William Slavin, residing on Kinsley's wharf, died very suddenly yesterday afternoon.

—Among the arrivals at the Aquidneck House are George D. Marshall and wife, Framingham; F. E. Smith and wife, Boston; W. E. Colt, St. Louis; A. Saint Gaudes, England; C. A. Barber, J. W. Congdon and family, Baltimore.

—The boats of the Fall River line are crowded every night and if anyone wants a stateroom he will find it necessary to engage it several days in advance. These steamers were never doing any better than they are the present season, by reason of the centennial travel.

—Officer Samuel Beaumont was sun struck while on duty at the beach yesterday. He was taken into one of the bathing houses, where restoratives were applied. He was subsequently taken to his home. This morning he is reported "no better."

—A young man in the brass-finishing department of the Newport foundry undertook to wipe off the drill in a small lath, yesterday, while it was in motion. In so doing his apron caught and in an instant he was drawn upon the lath wheel, but for the timely assistance of some of the workmen, a terrible accident would have occurred. As it was his clothes were torn from his person and his flesh somewhat lacerated.

NEW YORK FASHIONS.

BASQUES.

French modistes exercise their ingenuity in relieving the basques of their dresses of the plainness of the cuirass, as this plainness is only liked in rich thick fabrics. It is not enough that the basque is merely long and round. The fronts are cut quite long, the sides slope up sharply on the hips, and the back is cut in an elongated square, with perhaps some plaits laid as flatly as those of a riding habit, or if it must be more dressy, a ladder of loops, or perhaps three bows in a row are added below the waist line. The long seams, two beginning on each shoulder, are especially liked by ladies who are inclined to stoutness, as these give the slender, long waisted appearance now required. When these are objected to as "patchy," and as cutting up material too much, the basque is trimmed straight down the middle of the back in the way used last summer, and the end is finished by a long-looped bow. Double-breasted and dingonal fronts are much seen on lately imported French dresses. The vest inserted—not sewed on—is also very stylish when made of silk, and nearly covered with straps or bars of the dress material buttoned across it. Full fichus, as becoming as blouses, are made with grenadine, Mexicaine and batiste dresses. The Martha Washington fichus and round-waist dresses were mentioned last week as an old fashion now being restored to favor. The best modistes have the seams of all basques opened, pressed flatly, and overhanded. Whalebone cases should be opened, and the bone ensing overseamed on.

Louis XV. waistcoats are fashionable in Paris. They are made of satin—cream, blue or cardinal color richly embroidered, or else rich brocades are chosen for them. The trimming is cascades of lace down the back and front, with open English embroidery for ruffles to edge the garment. This gay waistcoat is used to complete dinner toilettes of quiet colors, such as black, gray or plum color. White waistcoats for midsummer are brocaded or wrought in fish-scale designs.

OVERSKIRTS.

Tablier effects are given by draping diagonal scarfs across the front breadths, or else rounding them upward on each side. The double and triple-curved aprons are still liked, with fringe, lace, or pleating in clusters on their edges. There are also many deep aprons with the square-cornered backs half-way open. A pocket of some kind is always added, and is much trimmed with buttons, braid, lace or ribbon bows. Long round overskirts are more worn than at any time since their introduction.

POLONAISES.

Polonaises grow in favor and increase in complications. There are diagonal fronts, double-breasted fronts, and vest fronts, while others button half-way down and have the skirt draped across just above the knees. There is little doubt that the polonaise will continue in favor, but readers are warned that those complicated garments soon become conspicuous, and their shape cannot be easily altered. The straight princesse front, with a long Marguerite back similar to the princesse, seventy-six, and La Hortense polonaises, draped according to fancy, either simply or elaborately, is the more reliable design. Polonaises of ecru grenadine in large squares of the Mexicaine design are edged with ecru lace, and worn over black, brown or blue silk skirts. For simpler costumes to be worn in the morning, and for travelling the polonaise is of Scotch gingham, either blue-gray stripes with cardinal red threads, or else in brown checks of indefinite plaids. The trimming is pleating or else Smyrna lace, and the skirt is of black silk. Grey linen overdresses are less stylish than those of gingham: but are still liked for their coolness and service.

NEW BRAIDS FOR DRESSES.

There are new canvas braids embroidered with silk floss to serve as trimming for the fine and light woolen dresses that are now worn all summer over black or brown velvet petticoats. New steel braids are also shown wrought with silks of varied colors. Ladders of double ribbon loops—gros grain on one side and satin on the other—trim the sides and fronts of polonaises.

Black and ecru network is fashionable interspersed with tassels that are tied in the meshes. This network is used for cardinal capes or mantillas, and sometimes an apron overskirt to match is added.

SUMMER NEEDLEWORK.

Ladies going into the country for the summer want something to do in the way of pleasant work which is at the same time useful, and at present the fancy stores offer them variety from which to choose. The cretonne work so fashionable in England has been described at length. This is used for screens, brackets, cushions and ottoman covers, and many beautiful designs are shown for such articles. The ground is of black or blue satin or else of substantial brown linen; on which is pasted the design of flower clusters, butterflies, storks, or chubby cherubs cut from fine chintz or cretonne. This much is done before it is sold. The needle woman then finishes the edges of the figures in buttonhole stitch, or, still better, in stem stitch, with silks chosen to match the colors of the flowers, birds or bees. Then a border is done around the cluster in twisted chain stitch and point Russe or in herringbone, and the piece is ready to be made up. Satin hand screens, including materials for finishing, cost from $2 50 to $5; banner screens are $8 to $15; cushions or ottoman pieces are $3 to $10; quaint bracket hangings, in Gothic points, with gay designs laid on black satin, cost from $5 to $8. Table covers made of black or other dark cloth have cretonne borders with a large centre piece; these figures are as finely shaded as if painted by hand; such cloths, with materials for finishing, cost from $16 to $36.

Table screens in imitation of antique designs are favorite articles of fancy work at present. Among easy, showy, and also tasteful patterns are covers of gray cloth, half covered with arabesque lines, and birds of bright blue or scarlet cloth, neatly appliqué and button holed on the other and [illegible] with branches of feather stitch and point Russe. These cost from $12 to $20, including materials.

Baby blankets or afghans are done in the same way; they have involved braiding patterns of the appliqué cloth for borders, and the word "Baby" forms a monogram in the centre; price $8 to $12, with one quarter of the piece completed, and materials for the whole.

Tea cozies for covering the teapot and keeping it warm, have come into use again for kettle-drums and afternoon tea-parties. they are made of gay-colored cloths: scarlet or blue or of gray linen, are wadded, and then lined with chamois skin. They consist of two half-circular pieces sewed together around the curved part, and put on like a Japanese tenset embroidered in the centre in seed stitch, while the border is in braiding pattern, to be done in spiral coils by the purchaser. $6 50 to $8 50 is the range of prices for unfinished cozies.

A novelty for chair seats and for cushions, is satin wrought in stripes entirely in simple button-hole stitch, with stripes of velvet ribbon applied between, and held on with herring-bone stitches. The embroidery can be done by the most inexperienced embroiderer, provided she knows button-hole stitch; for the design is stamped on the satin, and the silks are so shaded that the loveliest field flowers and vines grow under the needle without direction from the needlewoman.

The new Castilian embroidery makes a very pleasant pastime for Summer leisure. It is done in linen of two kinds, or else it has linen figures applied on thin Swiss muslin or sheer linen lawn. The thick arabesques, leaves, palms, etc., are marked out, and their edges are covered with white Castilian braid, which is merely purl edging. It is sometimes white linen underneath, with ecru linen figures. It is used for table covers, tidies, watch pockets, and very handsome sacques for ladies and children. Tidy or cushion squares cost $2 50. The Castilian lace work is in gray or ecru braid, sewed together very much as point lace braid is done.

The centennial year is commemorated also in needle work, and shoe bags of gray linen are shown with applique flannel or cretonne medallions representing the Independence bell—not omitting the crack—or else the head of Washington, or the shield of the United States. The catch-all, or the shoe bag, is completed, except some light stitching. With two pockets the cost is $2 50; with four pockets, $4 25.—[Harper's Bazar.

PUBLIC LAWS OF RHODE ISLAND.

Passed at the May Session, 1876.

CHAPTER 578.

AN ACT to approve and publish, and submit to the electors, a proposition of amendment to the Constitution of this State.

(Passed June 14, 1876.)

WHEREAS, articles of amendment to the Constitution of this State were proposed by the last General Assembly, by the votes of a majority of all the members elected to each house, and the same have been published and read to the electors at their annual town and ward meetings in April last, as required by the thirteenth article of the Constitution of this State, and are now presented to this General Assembly for their action thereon; and a majority of all the members elected to each house at said annual meeting, being present and approving of said proposed amendments:

It is enacted by the General Assembly as follows:

SECTION 1. The following proposition of amendment to the Constitution of this State, proposed by the last General Assembly, is hereby declared approved, and for the purpose of publication and submission to the electors, shall be designated as follows:

ARTICLE VI.

Every male native citizen of the United States, of the age of twenty-one years, who has had his residence and home in the State two years, and in the town or city in which he may offer to vote, six months next preceding the time of voting, whose name shall have been registered in the town or city where he resides, on or before the last day of December, in the year next preceding the time of his voting, shall have a right to vote in the election of all civil officers, and on all questions in all legally organized town, district, or ward meetings: provided, that no person shall, at any time, be allowed to vote in the election of the city council of any city, or upon any proposition to impose a tax, or for the expenditure of money, in any town or city, unless he shall within the year next preceding have paid a tax assessed upon his property, valued at least at one hundred and thirty-four dollars. This amendment shall take, in the Constitution of the State, the place of sections 2 and 3 of article II, which sections are hereby annulled and rescinded.

SECTION 2. The said proposition of amendment shall be submitted to the electors, for their approval or rejection, at meetings of the electors, to be held on the first Tuesday in November, A. D. 1876. The voting places in the various cities and towns shall be kept open during the hours now required by law for voting for State officers.

SEC. 3. The Secretary of State shall cause the said proposition of amendment to be published in all the papers publishing the laws of the State, for four weeks successively, next preceding the day of said meetings of said electors; and the said proposition shall be inserted by the town and city clerks in the warrants or notices by them to be issued previous to said meetings of the electors, for the purpose of warning the town or ward meetings; and said proposition shall be read by the town, ward and district clerks to the electors in the town, ward and district meetings to be held as aforesaid.

SEC. 4. The Secretary of State shall cause twenty-five thousand copies of said proposition of amendment to be printed, with the word "approved" upon the same, and a like number with the word "reject" thereon, and shall cause such ballots to be distributed among the town and ward clerks in suitable proportions, previous to the day of said meetings of electors.

SEC. 5. The town, ward and district meetings to be held as aforesaid shall be warned, and the list of voters shall be canvassed and made up, and the said town, ward and district meetings shall be conducted in the same manner as now provided by law, for the town, ward and district meetings for the election of general officers.

SEC. 6. At the close of the polls on said day of said meetings of the electors, the moderator and town clerk, or the warden and ward clerk, or the moderator and district clerk, shall, in open town, ward or district meetings, count said ballots, and seal up the same, and shall certify that the ballots by them sealed up are the ballots given in at said meetings of the electors, the number of such ballots, and that the number of ballots on said proposition does not exceed the number of electors voting at said meetings, and shall deliver or send such ballots, so sealed up and certified, to the Secretary of State before the first day of December, A. D., 1876.

SEC. 7. The Governor and Secretary of State shall count said ballots on or before the fifteenth day of December, A. D., 1876, and the Governor shall announce the result by proclamation, on or before the first day of January, A. D., 1877, and if said proposition of amendment shall have been approved by three fifths of the electors of the State present and voting thereon in said town, ward and district meetings, the same shall be declared to be a part of the Constitution of the State, and shall be numbered as an additional article in amendment thereto.

I certify the foregoing to be true copies.

Quarterly Bills, July, 1876.

As near the 1st as is practicable, all bills due the undersigned will be presented for payment.

At every quarterly rendering of bills he feels warranted toward, and can safely thank beforehand, that admirable class of people scattered through all social ranks and from large to limited degree of mental ability who look upon debts contracted as debts of real honor, hastening (often with much personal inconvenience) to pay them when due. All honor to the great sealed company and may their numbers increase.

Of that fearful class who are too honest to steal and too proud to beg—who by under appraisal or untrue statement get trusted and never pay—what can be said? Standing on the threshold of a new century of national existence may they change their ways, exchanging only the nobler qualities of the emblematic eagle not following his lazier leading as a bird of prey.

TAX ASSESSORS' Notice.

THE ASSESSORS of taxes of the city of Newport hereby give notice that they will meet and be in session in the common council chamber in the City Hall, in said Newport, every day, (Sundays excepted,) from and including Monday, July 17th, 1876, to and including Saturday, July 29th, 1876, from nine o'clock, A. M., to twelve o'clock, M., and from two o'clock to five o'clock, P. M., for the purpose of assessing and apportioning a tax on the inhabitants of said city, and the ratable property within the same, and they are ordered and hereby by the city council of said city on the 13th day of June, 1876.

Every person and body corporate liable to taxation in the premises, is hereby notified and required to bring in to said assessors, within the time or times, and at the place of the meeting and session of said assessors as above designated, a true and exact account of all his ratable estate, describing and specifying the value of every parcel of his real and personal estate.

The General Statutes of Rhode Island provide that "every person bringing in any such account, shall make oath before some one of the assessors, that the amount by him exhibited contains to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true and full account and valuation of all his ratable estate, and whosoever neglects or refuses to bring in such account, if over-taxed shall have no remedy therefor." Executors, Administrators, Guardians and Trustees are hereby notified that all the foregoing applies to them and to Trust estates as well as to other persons and property.

ROCKY POINT!

A Charming Summer Resort

Situated Midway Between Providence and Newport, R. I.

THE SEASON OF 1876

Opens on the First Day of July.

In a day's excursion from Newport and vicinity, for Military Companies, Civic Societies, or Sunday Schools, it has unsurpassed inducements. Leaving Newport in the morning, Rocky Point is reached in season for dinner, after which the time can be profitably and agreeably spent in looking at the various attractions about the grounds, among which may be enumerated the CAMERA OBSCURA, giving a living picture of all surrounding objects, both on land and water; the Observatory 150 feet above high water mark, from the summit of which can be seen a dozen different cities, and many miles of the beautiful Narragansett Bay, while at the same time the visitor can have refreshments of all kinds served in the sitting-room at the top; FLYING HORSES, run by steam; an INCLINED RAILWAY, ORNAMENTAL FLOWER GARDEN, FANCY FOUNTAINS, RUSTIC BASKETS, FREE MENAGERIE, BOWLING ALLEYS, &c.

Here is also a fine BEACH FOR BATHING, and upwards of one hundred Bathing Houses, with suitable costumes always to be obtained.

The Dining Hall, where the famous SHORE DINNERS are served, consisting of Baked Clams, Baked Fish, Chowder, Clam Fritters, &c., is the largest in the country, capable of seating fifteen hundred people at one time, price of said dinner being only fifty cents.

Besides this there is a large Restaurant, where the bill of fare embraces everything the market affords.

☞ Prices have been materially lowered this year, in accordance with the times. Refreshment stands are located in various parts of the grounds, and in a shady grove can be found the handsomest and coolest Ice Cream Saloon in New England. Free Dancing can be enjoyed in a cool and spacious Hall set apart for that purpose. Music by BROWN & REEVES'S FULL ORCHESTRA.

ROCKY POINT HOTEL

will be kept, as usual, on the European plan, with prices much lower than formerly; special arrangements for rooms, including board, will be made with families desiring to remain for a specified time.

The undersigned, in commencing his tenth season at this popular resort, takes this opportunity to return his sincere thanks for past favors, and hopes to meet a continuance of the same.

SATURDAY, JULY 8, 1876.

Teresa.

I.

Light, heat, beauty, life-giving South! The artist seeks it for its glorious depths of color; the poet for its classic traditions and dreamy influences; the invalid for its balmy breath and reviving warmth, which stir the pulses that in northern lands would cease to beat. Lionel Merton, half poet, half artist, and half invalid, sought it for life both of mind and body; and his delicate frame—shattered by the chill blasts of the north—woke to a new being in the soft Ausonian climate, whilst his artist eye glanced with a pleased delight over luxuriant plains and olive planted slopes, with here and there a glimpse of yellow Tiber flowing majestically along.

He was just now standing in the doorway of the inn, gazing, not at the landscape or the skies, but at a face that had attracted his attention more than once since his arrival at ——. He had seen it first in the beautiful gardens of the villa, not far from the inn, peering through the parted branches of a myrtle, whose dark glossy leaves seemed to form a fitting framework for the living picture behind them. But the branches had closed hastily, as the girl met the blue eyes of Lionel fixed steadfastly upon her.

"We must go home, Tina," said she to the child, who was watching the doves washing themselves in the basin at the fountain, and she swung it up to her shoulder, where it wound its tiny hands in her dark hair, loosening some of the coils that fell heavily down below her waist. A flush came over the pale olive skin.

"Thou art a bad child, Tina!" she said, as she hastily twisted up the long tresses under the folds of her white head-gear.

The large lustrous eyes had but looked at Lionel for a moment, and yet they seemed to have told him a long story that he had been in the past trying to decipher.

Next he had seen her in the church, kneeling in fervent prayer, and had silently watched the changes of countenance until again she perceived him, and with a startled look rose and fled away.

Today Teresa stood leaning against a stone pillar, playing with the pink blossoms of a catalpa that stood near her, when suddenly she found herself once more face to face with the English stranger.

He had discovered her name—Teresa; daughter of blind Tomaso Cecchi and his bed-ridden wife. She was a good daughter, and worked hard to support her parents. Today she seemed to be taking life easy—drinking in the splendor of the purple mists and golden sheets of sunlight with true Italian indolence.

"Dolce far niente!" thought Lionel, as he looked at the statue-like figure, and the head thrown back, partly with weariness, partly with an intense appreciation of the beauty around her.

But Teresa's rest was not to be of long duration. The Mercanti of the Campagna had sent for laborers to gather in the harvest, and men and women were forming into bands to join in the work. Teresa was going, so gossip had told Lionel, and to him it seemed a sacrilege that the beautiful maiden should toil and slave with the common multitude. But what could he do? And in the midst of his meditations the girl raised her face, and again their eyes met.

"Teresa!" The name burst involuntarily from his lips.

She started and blushed, but this time did not flee away. She looked up at Lionel.

"Si, signore," she answered.

"That is a pretty flower," said Lionel; "will you give it to me?"

She made no reply but put the blossom into his hand. And so the acquaintance was made and the two chatted away in the sunshine.

II.

Lionel has gone to Tomaso Cecchi's lodging.

"But your daughter is not strong enough for such work!" said he, in conclusion to a long harangue.

The old man shrugged his shoulders. "Poverty," said he, "is a hard master and Teresa is a good girl."

"Too good to endanger her life in the toils of the campagna. Think of the risk, the labor, the heat, the foul evening mists!"

But Tomaso looked back beyond the discomforts and remembered a time when the plains resounded with songs and laughter, and the wine was broached and hearts were light.

"I found my wife there," said he "and Teresa may find a husband."

Lionel instinctively drew back. A husband among those laboring peasants! impossible; for in his eyes Teresa was worthy to be the bride of a king.

"Can you not find a substitute for your daughter? I ——," and then he hesitated, for Teresa had come into the room.

"How much will it cost to get a substitute, Teresa?"

Teresa laughed. "Giovanetta would pay if she could to go in my place," said she. "There are too many ready and willing to go."

"Let them go then!" responded Lionel, eagerly.

"The signore forgets we must have money," returned Teresa.

Scarcely thinking of what he was doing, Lionel had poured out the contents of a purse full of English gold upon the table. The quick ear of Tomaso caught the sound; he stretched out his hand as if to clutch the ringing coin, but Teresa sprang between, turning a flushing face upon Lionel.

"We are not beggars!" she exclaimed; "I work for my bread!"

"Will you not let me help you?" asked Lionel, in a low tone.

"You cannot," she replied, in an equally low voice; and the flush died out of her face, for Lionel's tone was very humble, and his eyes had spoken something to her that her heart answered. She gathered the money together and put it into his hands.

"It must not be," said she, as he sorrowfully departed.

"Thou art a fool, child!" said Tomaso Cecchi, when Lionel was out of hearing. "These English know not what to do with their gold, and we should have been all the better for it."

III.

Slowly plodded the large gray oxen over the plains of the Campagna; lazily sauntered the drivers at their side. Here and there one heard the sounds of merriment; there again were silent toilers; here worn-out laborers who had crept into the shade and fallen asleep, and above stretched the blue heavens, still and cloudless, over the gray and purple sweeps of far-off landscape, with here and there a patch of sun-gilt water.

All this Lionel saw, for he had obtained a lodging in one of the large stone farm-houses, since money will obtain anything; and the fair, delicate-looking, generous Englishman was popular among the poor Italian peasants.

Teresa knew that he was there, but she avoided him; and he, seeing this, only watched her from a distance, and gave no token that she was more to him than any other laborer on the vast plains. He had seen Tomaso and his wife before he had followed to the Campagna, and they were amply provided for during their daughter's absence.

Lionel Merton had fallen in love, and he sat down and took the matter into deliberate consideration. His first thought was that Teresa was a queen; fit to be the wife of any man, was his second; why not of himself? was the third; and that she should be if possible, was the fourth. Yet how to proceed was the difficulty; he felt, with all the keen sensitiveness of an Englishman to absurd situations, that he was somewhat absurdly placed at the present moment; for Teresa, calmly pursuing her [illegible] his presence in the constant supplies of all needed for the sufferers at the hands of the innkeeper, and she did not refuse them, for she was almost worn out with her vigil, and perhaps regarded this unexpected assistance as an answer to her prayers, and therefore not to be flung ungratefully aside.

* * * * * * *

And then came the end. The death angel closed the old man's eyes, and the mourner carried him to his grave—soon to be followed by the wife who had journeyed with him through the world. And then Teresa was left an orphan, alone in the world. And then Lionel Merton once more said:

"Teresa, you love me?"

"Teresa replied, as she had done before, "Yes." But this time she added: "The vow that parted us is accomplished, and I am no longer forbidden to be your wife."

Sewing Machines.

THE SUPERIORITY OF THE

REMINGTON

Sewing Machine

Is acknowledged by competent judges in the following particulars:

1. It is constructed on the soundest mechanical principles.
2. It is made with the best material by the best workmen.
3. Its wearing surface is more evenly distributed than that of other shuttle machines.
4. It has no harsh jarring motions.
5. It runs much lighter, stiller, and with less wear than other shuttle machines.
6. There is less wear on the needle bar and cam than in other machines.
7. Less motion is given to the shaft, carrying the needle bar and feed than in other machines.
8. The feed is positive, silent and automatic.
9. The length of the stitch is more easily regulated.
10. The needle is more easily threaded. There are no holes for the thread to pass through, but the eye of the needle.
11. There is no wear or strain on the thread to set it firmly in the cloth.
12. It has no objectional levers, no heavy rotary cams, no noisy cog wheels, which are always gumming or breaking.
13. It is so constructed that it can run twice the speed, do double the work and last twice as long as other shuttle machines.

MILL!

ATTENTION is invited to this improved mill, as surpassing all others in Simplicity, Efficiency, Symmetry and Economy. Recent improvements have reduced the friction joints from 60 to only 4, and being provided with patent lubricating cups, it may run thirty days by once oiling. It may be cheaply mounted, (the smaller mill costing only $55.00), or by an artistic tower it may be set to become an ornament as well as an invaluable convenience at every suburban residence. I would be pleased to attend those in want, or refer to engineer at Torpedo Station, whose practical experience will enable him to explain its merits more fully.

GEO. R. WEAVER.

Having removed my place of business from Commercial Wharf to No. 19 BROADWAY for the better convenience of my patrons, and arranged to continue my repair department (thus protecting the implements I sell), and to offer all goods appropriate to the wants of Farmers, Gardeners and Citizens (in my line), I would respectfully solicit continued patronage. I offer Wilson's and Brighton as the standard fertilizers. Guano, Bone and Plaster constantly in stock. The Archimedian, Charter Oak, Excelsior and Philadelphia Lawn Mowers for man or horse. Plows of all kinds. Harrows, Rollers, Barrows, small tools, &c., &c. Please call and consult catalogues of the leading dealers in larger cities. Our prices are as low.
